The Book of Abramelin

In the third half year, you should avoid all worldly things. Spend your time on godly and spiritual things if you want to be involved in the sacred wisdom and spiritual community. You may walk in a garden for relaxation, but do not work. Between the flowers and fruit you can meditate on the greatness of God. Give up everything except things for your involvement in things of the soul and of God. Let all other things go, be happy and thank God when you find one, two, or three hours to practice the holy law and to learn from the holy books—this will be useful. The less you learn, the smarter and smarter you will become. It is sufficient that you do not fall asleep when praying. It is necessary that you do not fall in the Work through sloppiness or laziness.

CHAPTER ELEVEN

How to choose the location to call all the spirits. How to prepare the accessories.

Make the arrangements before Passover so that you can start as soon as it is over. In the wilderness it is easy to find a location. Here, in the middle of a level place, erect an altar. Cover it with a roof of branches and leaves to protect the area from rain. Around the altar there should be an area seven feet wide platted with beautiful and fragrant flowers. The location should be divided into two. First, the altar with its temple and living room and second, the entrance area.

In a town or in houses make note of the following: The prayer room should have at least two windows—one facing the rising sun, the other facing the setting sun, next to a door
